Stampin' Up! Materials Used:

- Stippled Blossoms (for image) and Cross My Heart Stamp Set (for greeting)
- Very Vanilla and Always Artichoke Cardstock
- Cherry Cobbler and Elegant Eggplant Classic Ink Pad
- Stampamajig
- Always Artichoke Seam Binding ribbon

I have also used extra embellishments of Tea Time Trinkets and Crochet Trim but these are optional and not included in the base card pack.

Step by step instructions to make this project:

- Cut the Always Artichoke in half horizontally and fold one of the halves in half again, to form a side folding C6 standard size card. Put the other half aside for now.
- Using half a sheet of A4 Very Vanilla cardstock, cut and assemble according to the attached template. When you assemble, place just a tiny dab of snail between each layer to hold in place.
- Now we are going to stamp on the three layers as if they were one piece of cardstock. It looks best if you stamp over the cardstock joins. I have stamped the roses first, using two step stamping. The base layer is stamped in Cherry Cobbler and the top layer is aligned with the Stampamajig and is stamped in Elegant Eggplant (these colours look surprisingly great together!).
- Next we are going to fill in the gaps with leaves (I eyeballed the placement on these, but if you want to be more precise, use the Stampamajig again). The first layer of the leaves is Always Artichoke (stamped off once) and the second layer stamped over the top is Always Artichoke stamped the first time. This gives good variation in colour with the same tone.
- Once the stamping is complete, carefully remove the three layers from each other. Matt the top two layers with a thin mat of Always Artichoke (using the other half of the Always Artichoke piece you put aside earlier).
- Reassemble the base Very Vanilla with the top two pieces using Dimensional Foam dots between each layer. Thread the Always Artichoke ribbon between the base Very Vanilla layer and the second layer and tie a knot (you can also add extra embellishments at this stage).
- Adhere to the base Always Artichoke card using Snail adhesive. Add your greeting to the centre rectangle.
